Greetings,

Please join us on Tuesday, December 13th, 2011 when Dr. James Stein will address our group. His topic will be:

The E4D Digitally Scanned Intraoral Impression And The Single Visit CAD/CAM Restoration As A Practical Clinical Technique In Daily Practice

Over the past decade most areas of industrial production and medicine have adopted the many forms of digital scanning and CAD/CAM technology. Dentists finally have the opportunity to utilize the second generation of these technologies to provide patient care at a level only previously dreamed about. This program will discuss how much less labor intensive and how much more control you can have over all phases of ceramic restorations.

Dr. James M. Stein received his D.M.D. degree from Boston University in 1985 and completed his post-doctoral specialty degree in Prosthodontics at Boston University in 1987. Dr. Stein maintains a private practice in Boston, Massachusetts. He has lectured to professional societies and university groups internationally on Prosthodontics, Implant restorations, and CAD/CAM dentistry.

We will meet at The Hyatt Regency Hotel, 575 Memorial Drive, Cambridge, MA 02139, 617-492-1234. Parking is available in the lot next to the hotel. A dinner will be served.

Our sponsor for this meeting will be The Henry Schein Dental Company

Justin McElroy and Jamie Schropp from Midwest Dental Arts, Our laboratory partner will be present at the meeting to assist you.
